ABSTRACT

This final performance report provides project outcome information and data to the U.S. Department of Education for the federally-funded Library Literacy Program. The Lonesome Pine Regional Library (Wise, Virginia) conducted a project that involved recruitment, retention, public awareness, training, rural oriented programs, basic literacy, and tutoring programs. The project served a community of 100,000-200,000, and targeted adults who wanted to learn or to enhance reading and writing and/or math skills. The project used the Laubach tutoring method, with one-on-one and small group instruction. The project served 399 adult learners, provided 20,493 hours of direct tutoring service, and involved 86 volunteer tutors. The report provides a comparison of actual accomplishments to goals and objectives set forth in the grant application; a comparison between proposed and actual expenditures; specific details of activities undertaken; the role the library played in the accomplishment of the goals and objectives; agencies and organizations that assisted in the project; and the impact of the federal project on the ongoing program of the library. Includes a literacy services brochure and project evaluation forms. (SWC)

6.(a) If this project involved tutoring, was the learning progress of the adult literacy students quantitatively measured? yes no

(If "yes", identify any tests, questionnaires, or standard methods used and summarize student results.)

The Laubach Way to Reading Informal placement, the Slosson, or the TABE test was administered upon enrollment. Thereafter, tests were administered after each forty hours of instruction.

Student retention was 65%.

12% of students advanced at least two grade levels; 46% advanced one grade level; 42% showed improvement but did not advance to a higher level.

6.(b) If this project involved tutoring, were qualitative outcomes of student progress documented? yes no

(If "yes", briefly describe how progress was determined and summarize student results. You may attach samples of any documents used to record observations or demonstrate outcomes.)

Progress was determined by: Testing at 40 hour intervals; students obtaining employment; students receiving commercial driving licenses and regular drivers' licenses. Self esteem building was great.

How many service hours were provided by non-tutors? 176
How many librarians were oriented to literacy methods, materials, and students? 0
How many trainers of tutors were trained? 0

Part III: Narrative Report

Provide a narrative report that includes the following information:

1. A comparison of actual accomplishments to the goals and objectives set forth in the approved application. Describe any major changes or revisions in the program with respect to approved activities, staffing, and budgeting, including unspent funds. Explain why established goals and objectives were not met, if applicable.
2. Provide a comparison between proposed and actual expenditures by budget category, i.e., personnel, travel, materials, etc.
3. Provide, as appropriate, specific details as to the activities undertaken – e.g., if library materials were acquired, describe the kinds of materials purchased; if a needs assessment was conducted, describe the results of the assessment; if training was provided, describe the training and include the dates and topics; if services were contracted out, describe the contractor's activities.
4. Describe the role the library has played in the accomplishment of the goals and objectives set forth in the approved grant, including whether the library was involved in the project's implementation or as a resource and site only.
5. Provide names of agencies and organizations recruited to volunteer their services for the literacy program or that were involved in the coordination and planning of the literacy program. Describe the nature of their role.

6. Provide the names and locations of libraries and other sites whose facilities were used for this project.
7. Describe the impact of the Federal project on the ongoing program of the grantee.

Note: Narrative reports are not expected to exceed 20 double-spaced typewritten pages.

[Further monies or other benefits may, but not necessarily, be withheld under these programs unless these reports are completed and filed as required by existing law and regulations (20 U.S.C. 351 et seq.; 34 CFR Parts 75 and 77).]

PART III - NARRATIVE REPORT

1. Goals and objectives:

The project had three goals:

- A. Recruit seventy-five tutors to work on a one-on-one basis with adults who read below the fifth grade level.

We have recruited and trained 36 volunteer tutors into this project. The training is designed and provided for our specific needs and is available throughout our service area by five literacy trainers who use the Laubach Way to Reading method. It consists of ten hours of tutor training, teaching the volunteer essential skills in working with the adult learner.

Our goal was not obtained due to economic and geographical inhibitors. People in these communities are unable to afford transportation and are very isolated, making it difficult for potential tutors to reach tutor training sites. Every effort was made to accommodate these difficulties, but unfortunately, we did not achieve our goal, but we were very satisfied with the 36 people trained.

- B. Recruit seventy-five adults who want to learn to read or to enhance existing skills in reading, writing, and/or math.

Involved in The Lonesome Pine Regional Library Literacy Project were 399 adult learners. The public is aware of the problems of illiteracy. National, state and local media attention is helping in this area. Case workers at Social Service agencies are linking low level readers directly with our reading programs through their evaluation of the person. With our high unemployment rate in this area, people see the need for better education.

- C. Refer students with skills above 4.9 to Adult Education classes, sponsored by the Public School System.

An evaluation of the literacy project is made each year. This evaluation determined that The Lonesome Pine Library Literacy project should and would continue tutoring adults beyond grade 4.9. Reasons for continuing include: the student lacks the necessary confidence to go into a classroom setting; adults do not live close enough to attend ABE classes; and in some cases, their employment inhibits them from attending scheduled ABE classes.

Upon completion of level 4, the student is given the option of going into ABE or continuing with The Lonesome Pine Library Literacy Project. If she/he decides to remain in The Lonesome Pine Literacy Project, we provide qualified tutors to tutor until a GED can be earned. 30 adults received their GED through our program.

Staffing changes were minimal. A new coordinator was hired for Lee County. The library director's position has undergone a change. Virginia Adams is the Acting Director.

5. Specific details of activities:

A. It was not necessary for the library to acquire text books and other materials through this funding due to a generous donation from the Slemp Foundation. The Lonesome Pine Regional Library branches have an excellent selection of new reader materials available to all patrons and students.

B. There was no formal assessment done.

C. Five training sessions for tutors were conducted by the coordinator, and one certified trainer. We used the Laubach Way to Reading method in each instance since this was the method the trainers had been certified in. Dates of these training sessions were: February 1993, May 1993, June 1993, July 1993 and August 1993.

D. No services were contracted out.

4. Role of the Library

Each of the four counties in The Lonesome Pine Regional Library system has a literacy coordinator in its main library. These libraries are located in Clintwood, Gate City, Pennington Gap and Wise. Coordinators have access to all branch libraries which are located in Big Stone Gap, Coeburn, Haysi, Rose Hill and St. Paul. The four coordinators have the responsibility of carrying out the goals and objectives set forth in the approved grant. The coordinators submit monthly reports to the Director of the Lonesome Pine Regional Library. Meetings are held when necessary between coordinators and the library director. The director is available for consultation by telephone as needed.

Family Literacy

Family Literacy is grown-ups reading to children. It's mothers, fathers, and grandparents passing reading on to their youngsters. It's people of all ages learning how to get along together in this world.

Tutoring is

FREE

ONE ON ONE

It's never too late to learn to read.
There are thousands of adults who don't read as well as they would like to.
If you want to learn to read better, all you need is the willingness to try and a resolve to stay with it for awhile.

Commercial Drivers' License (CDL)

A new license has been created for drivers who operate any vehicle weighing more than 26,001 pounds or is designed to carry 16 or more passengers or transport hazardous materials. Drivers need to contact the local Division of Motor Vehicles office for details. Free CDL tutoring is available through the Library Literacy Project.

From Now On, Only The Best Will Drive

You don't have to be a "Super Teacher" to help someone learn to read, but you do need a genuine concern for others and you must be trained to teach adults. Free training workshops are provided.

T•U•T•O•R•S

Family Literacy works because parents care about their children. Parents love their children and want them to succeed. A good education goes a long way toward guaranteeing success.
